

Abstract of the Disclosure

5 A method for electrophoretic separation in separation channels in which the temperature of the channel is repeatedly cycled during the course of the separation.